RAILROAD NEWS FROM ALL POINTS.

New Orleans Now Thinks That Huntington Plans at Galveston Will Be Abandoned.

OPPOSITION IN THE RANKS.

Yellow Fever Quarantine Caused the Late Mr. Huntington to Make the Move-Proposed Lines - Notes.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

New Orleans, La., Aug. 21.-It is the opinion of all the leading Southern Pacific officials here that the company will abandon what is known as "Huntington's Folly," the effort of the late millionaire to make Galveston the Gulf terminal of his railroad system, and to operate his New York steamship line from there, instead of from New Orleans as formerly.

It has been rumored for some time that there was friction in the management of the Southern Pacific Railroad over this matter, but I; was one of Mr. Huntington's hobbies and, as usual, he carried his way about it over all opposition. Mr. A. C. Hutchinson, the president and manager of the Southern Pacific Steamship Company, combated Mr. Huntington's hobby, showing that while Galveston was nearer to the Pacific Coast, in point of mileage New Orleans was twenty-four hours nearer in point of time, but he finally surrendered wher it became obvious that Mr. Huntington had determined to make Galveston the chief terminal.

The Southern Pacific then went to work spending millions to deepen the harber of Galveston and to establish a great competing terminal system there.

It is understood here that this was done in opposition to the advice of nearly all the other railroad officials, and that as Mr. Huntington, its chief and almost the only believer in the scheme, is dead, the proposed change, with the expensive improvements it calls for, will be abandoned, especially as two years' experience has demonstrated that the views of Mr. Hutchinson, as to the more rapid handing of freight through New Orleans, have been proved to be correct. peting terminal system there

Mr. Huntington's decision to make Galweston the terminal, which was reached in 1897, was due largely to the losses his steamship line suffered then, and in the next two years, in consequence of the Texas quarantine against New Orleans on account of yellow fever. All the freight landed from the steamers in New Orleans was denied to discuss to Texas or transportation to the dmission to Texas or transportation to the Spindler, heretofore general agent of the old company, will have his heauquarters at St. Louis, from which point the company will be operated, but the offices in New Orleans will be considerably enlarged, with Captain H. Meyer in charge, Soliciting freight agents will also be stationed at Chicago and other points in the interior. Mr. Spindler left this morning for the City of Mexico, where he will complete all details.

The new steamship company has arranged for an interct-age of freight with that of the more imperiant Mexican radicoad companies, and will then secure return freight. The steamers employed in this trailing will carry passengers, as well as freight. They will run from New Orleans to Vera Cruz, Tampico and some other Mexican ports, not prescheded.

L. B. Boswell Makes a Plea for Western Railroads.

L. B. Boswell, commissioner of the Traffic L. R. Boswell, commissioner of the Traffic Bureau at Quincy, Ill., in his address be-fore Chicago merchants on "The Parcel Post," had this to say for the railroads: "Under ord nary trade conditions the West would buy from the East, hence money would flow castward under a par-recis-post system without any compensating results to Western communities. The East would not buy similarly from the West, consequently up return of money would be consequently no return of money would be onsequently no return of money would be nade to Western people, and the power of a dollar to enrich or advance the Western lown would be entirely destroyed. "Deprive railroads of their legitimate source of revenue and the ill effects will be found among thousands of employes in ev ery city, town and village in the United States. This great commercial and industrial sustaining factor would become impaired, if not injured. Competition with the Government could not well be maintained by railroads with profit. "The viciousness of the principle involved must be apparent to any one who will give the subject impartial thought."

THE ILWACO LINE.

Purchased by the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 22.—President A. L. Mohler of the Oregon Rallway and Navi-Mohler of the Oregon Railway and Navi-gation Company, in an interview, stated that his company had purchased the Ilwaco Railway and Navigation Company's prop-erty in Washington on August 7, and that possession would be taken on September 1. When asked if the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company intended to build down the north bank of the Columbia to the mouth, he said:

"I know nothing of such a plan. We have no intention of leaving Portland, but contemplate increasing our facilities there."

General Passenger Agent James Barker of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas was born in Massachusetts and was fond of adventure, even as a small boy. His father was a sea captain and one of the best-known citizens of Nantucket. Jimmie made raany a trip in the dark from Nantucket to Wood's Holl, and then in the daylight from Wood's Holl back to Nantucket again for his supper.

Wood's Holl back to Nantucket again for his supper.

His adventurous spirit took him, when still a stripling, to New Orleans, where he embarked in the banking business with his uncle, Jacob Barker. Being of a retiring disposition and frugal habits, he stayed at home, saved his money and resolved to build a raidroal. Coming to Missouri, he heard that General Taylor wanted to be relieved in Mexico, and as the "Katy Flyer" was not rauning at that time, he was compelled to take to horse. During the journey he made an excellent mental survey for a railroad line through Missouri, Kansas and Texas, On returning he sold this to a syndicate, and it was used by the engineers who constructed the present M. K. & T. system, of which Mr. Barker now has the honor to be the general passenger and ticket agent.

IRON ORE PRODUCTION.

Michigan Leads, With Minnesota a Close Second.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The production of fron ore in the United States for the year 1839, according to the annual report of the 1839, according to the annual report of the United States Geological Survey, which has just been compiled by Mr. John Birkinbine, amounted to 24,883,173 long tons, an increase of 5,239,997 tons, or 27 per cent, over 1898. The records for 1838 and 1839 represent the largest output of iron ore mined in any country in one year, the nearest approach being a total of 18,062,040 tons mined in 1880 in Freeland Twenty-four States countrib. being a total of 18,002,000 tons mined in 1800 in England. There was a very general increase during the year in the amount of all the different classes of Iron ore, due to active demand upon local mines to supplement ore obtained from the large producers. Many Iron ore deposits which had not been worked for years resumed operations in 1838, and the official reports indicate a belief that the general shipments in this industry possibly will still further encourage the working of deposits, which, during the business depression, were inactive.
